Student health care

The screenshot shows the 'Student health' page on the University of Gothenburg website. The left sidebar contains a navigation menu with options like 'New student', 'Your studies', 'Service and support', 'Study counselling', 'Academic language and study strategies', 'Student health' (highlighted), 'Study environment', 'Disability study support', 'Basic Swedish for international students', 'The University Library', 'Scholarships', 'Contact', 'Digital tools', 'Go international', and 'Internships and jobs'. The main content area is titled 'Student health' and includes a 'Page content' section with links to 'Schedule an appointment', 'Videos, links and other resources', 'Health services in Sweden', 'Sick leave, student finances and insurance', 'A good study environment is important for your well-being', 'The University of Gothenburg is participating in a study on students' mental health', 'Information from faculties and departments', and 'Related content'. Below this, there is a section titled 'Schedule an appointment' which explains that the University of Gothenburg has a procured student healthcare provider, Feelgood, and provides information on how to access services. At the bottom, there are two expandable sections: 'Different kinds of support' and 'What the student healthcare services can help with'.

- Stress management, for example if you feel that you cannot keep up with your studies or that you have procrastination issues
- Ergonomics and workload, for example muscle and joint pain during certain aspects of your studies
- Feelings of worry arising from or in connection to your studies
